Development and propagation of Indian culture

452. SHRI SHAHID SIDDIQUI: Will the Minister of CULTURE be pleased to state:

(a) whether theatre has traditionally played a very significant role in development and propagation of Indian culture;

(b) the steps taken for the growth of traditional Indian Folk Theatres; and

(c) whether there is a plan to revive and bring these theatres on the pattern of modern day city life of the country?

THE MINISTER OF CULTURE (SHRI S. JAIPAL REDDY): (a) Yes, Sir.

(b) and (c) Under the scheme of financial assistance to cultural institutions, grants are given to institutions and groups practising traditional Indian folk theatres; festivals and performances are held regularly; several artists in the field have been honoured with Sangeet Natak Akademi Awards. Audio-Video recordings of many forms have been made. A special project is being run for the preservation and development of Koodiyattam, a significant tradition of Indian theatre. Under the scheme of 'Assistance to Young Theatre Workers', the Sangeet Natak Akademi has funded several contemporary plays based on traditional theatres. Programmes for promotion of traditional folk theatres are organised in collaboration with Zonal Cultural Centres (ZCCs) all over India. The ZCCs have introduced a new scheme of Theatre Rejuvenation and for the last three years, assistance of Rs. 5.50 lakhs per annum is being provided to each of the seven Centres. The ZCCs are also organising festivals of Traditional Folk Theatres. Moreover, under the Guru Shishya Parampara Scheme, fully funded by Government of India, Traditional Indian Folk Theatres are being revived alongwith other folk forms.

Most of above mentioned efforts are then also showcased in towns and cities.
